Elsie Kreissler Becomes Bride of Harold Williams

Miss Elsie Kreissler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kreissler of Appleton City, Mo., became the bride of Harold Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Williams of Ogden, on November 15. The ceremony took place in the St. Paul's Lutheran church, with the Rev. Harold Brauer officiating, in the presence of the immediate family and a few close friends.

The young couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Cormack.

The bride wore an afternoon frock of gray crepe and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Cormack was in a gray suit and a corsage of gardenias and rosebuds.

The newlyweds left immediately for a honeymoon in Las Vegas. They are now at home in Ogden.

Pastor's Message
Based on Flight

"The almighty God always has ways and means to guard and protect His people and His church," said Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Twenty-eighth and Quincy, in his sermon on Sunday. His message was based on the story of the Christ child's flight into Egypt.

"Although King Herod had laid careful plans to destroy the newborn King of the Jews, as the wise men referred to the Christ, the all-wise and almighty Lord did not lack ways and means to protect Him from his jealous fury. First, He directed the wise men in a dream to return to their own country without reporting back to Herod. When Herod then destroyed the lives of all children under two years of age in the town of Bethlehem in hopes of destroying the hated child, Jesus was already out of his reach, because Joseph had been directed by God to take Him and His mother to Egypt. Just so, God

Holy Family Cited As Pattern

"The holy family is a pattern for all Christian families," was the truth emphasized by Pastor Harold Brauer, in his sermon delivered in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Twenty-eighth and Quincy, Sunday. "There is much that both parents and children can learn from Jesus and his parents, Joseph and Mary," he stated, basing his remarks on Luke 2:41-52.

"Like the parents of Jesus, so Christian parents today should be vitally concerned about both the physical and spiritual well-being of their children. But they should be careful to keep the proper balance between these two. While the physical care of children is important, the provision for the spiritual training of children by precept and example is an even more important responsibility of parents. This training in Christian truths and practices should have its foundation in the home. That is where God placed the responsibility.

"Like the child Jesus, children of today should be subject, or obedient and respectful, to their parents and all others who have authority over them; they should grow especially 'in favor with God and man,' namely, strive to walk in God's ways so that not only God will be pleased with them, but also those who meet and know them will like them, and they should be about the 'Father's business,' hearing His word, doing His will, and putting into practice His precepts."

Pastor Describes Epiphany Aims

"The purpose of the Epiphany season in the calendar of the church is to study the ways in which Jesus Christ revealed Himself as the Son of God and the Savior of the world. Such a revelation of Christ's glory we have in the story of the wedding at Cana, John 2: 1-11," declared Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church in his Sunday sermon.

"At this wedding, Christ proved Himself to be the almighty God when He changed the water into wine. Such a deed, no man ever before or after performed, without adding something else to the water. The wine that Jesus made, was better than all that had been served at the wedding feast before, the governor of the feast testified. In performing this miracle Christ also showed Himself to the ever-present help in time of need. He showed that He is not only able and willing to help when necessities are lacking, but also when some small and non-essential thing is needed. These He will supply according to His good and perfect will. Finally, at this wedding, to which also His newly-called disciples were invited, Christ also proved Himself to be the promised Savior. In following Him these disciples showed that they believed Jesus to be the Messiah, but in the miracle which He performed on this occasion they saw a glimpse of "the greater things which the Messiah was to perform, and by it were strengthened in their faith."

Sermon Delivered on
'Model of Faith'

"A sincere faith in Jesus Christ and in the promises of God's word has characteristics which are worth emulating. That is seen in the 'model of faith' set before us by the centurion of Capernaum, whose story is told in Matthew 8: 5-13," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Twenty-eighth and Quincy, Sunday.

"A Christian faith believes that the almighty Lord is fully able and willing to help out of every need and trouble, and leaves the manner in which the relief comes to the Lord's wisdom. A Christian faith shows itself in an unfeigned love toward God, who first loved us, and in love to the fellowman. A true Christian knows God to be a loving heavenly father, because of His great love in giving His son, Jesus Christ, for man's salvation. True love to God must also be accompanied by a love for the fellowman, by a love that brings the neighbor's need to the Lord's attention through prayer and does what it can to relieve his needs.

"A Christian faith is also sincerely humble, recognizing that the blessing of salvation and help in time of trouble is a gift of God's grace, which none of us can merit or deserve. Finally, a sincere Christian faith thinks through its relation to God and Christ in terms of the life to which the individual is accustomed, and confesses that faith in the individual's own way and words. Such a Christian faith, we wish more people would have."

A double-ring ceremony united Miss Barbara E. Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Wall, of 2429 Monroe, and Harold J. Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Beck, of 3348 Adams.

The ceremony was performed recently by the Rev. Harold Brauer, in the St. Paul's Lutheran church.

The bride was gowned in a white satin dress with seed pearl trim, with a bustle and a long train. Her veil was held in place by a cluster of orange blossoms.

She was attended by Miss Julienne Werner, Mrs. Ivan D. Thompson, Miss Ruth Bamesberger, Miss Marie Dirks, and Mrs. Phyllis Hooper, all of whom wore gowns in pastel shades and carried bouquet of roses and sweetpeas.

Byron K. Martin was best man and Richard F. Wall and Boyd S. Degen as ushers.

Little Miss Carol Jo Shoemaker was flower girl.

A wedding dinner and reception was held at the Colonial Inn with 150 guests attending.

Robert F. Bell

Robert Farrell Bell, 39, of 107 Twenty-fifth, died in a local hospital Wednesday following a two-month illness.

Mr. Bell was born Dec. 19, 1907, in Ewington, Ill., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bell. He attended schools in Kansas City, Mo., and graduated from the Lincoln high school and Wendell Phillips school, Kansas City, Mo. He also attended schools in Omaha.

In 1933 he was the Kansas City amateur tennis champion. He moved to Ogden 12 years ago and had been employed as a waiter in the D. C. and H. department of the Union Pacific railroad. He married Matlena Johnson in Ogden, June 30, 1943. He was a veteran of World War Two, serving two years in the Pacific theatre. He was a member of the Waiters local union, No. 465, the Esquire club and Methodist church.

Surviving are his widow and a grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Hunt, Kansas City, Mo.

The body is at the mortuary, 3408 Washington.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at one p. m. by Rev. Harold Brauer, of the Evangelical Lutheran church. The body will be shipped to Omaha, Neb., for services and burial.

Recreation Gift Includes Tables, Chairs and Rugs

As a part of its youth assistance program, Ogden Kiwanis club has donated furnishings for three recreation rooms at the state school for the deaf and blind. It was announced today by Dr. George S. Stewart, chairman of the boys' and girls' committee of the club.

The gifts include tables, chairs and rugs for the reading and lounging room, game and reading room and a kitchen, where students may prepare refreshments for their social functions.

By augmenting basic furnishings of the rooms, the gifts will enable the students to broaden their social activities and make the quarters more attractive and convenient, Mr. Stewart said.

Tells Appreciation

Supt. Boyd E. Nelson of the school said he, the staff and students were happy to receive this cooperation from the club. "It means a great deal in furthering the social education of students, and shows that the community is anxious to accept the students as citizens. The spirit in which it is given probably means more than the actual physical donation," Mr. Nelson added.

As an example of the community-mindedness engendered among students by such gifts, Mr. Nelson revealed that pupils, free of any solicitation, had taken up a collection for the Friendship Train. The students show an unusual willingness to do their part in Red Cross and other campaigns, he said, because they are anxious to reciprocate for the kindnesses shown them.

Among the older students who will have access to the newly-furnished rooms, Mr. Nelson continued, are members of the boys' Arthur Wanger Athletic association and the co-educational Park Literary society.

Raise Own Funds

Boys of the A.W.A.A. raise their own funds for purchase of athletic equipment and entrance fees into leagues by operation of a candy store at the school and other means. They are allowed almost complete freedom in the management of their affairs, the superintendent explained.

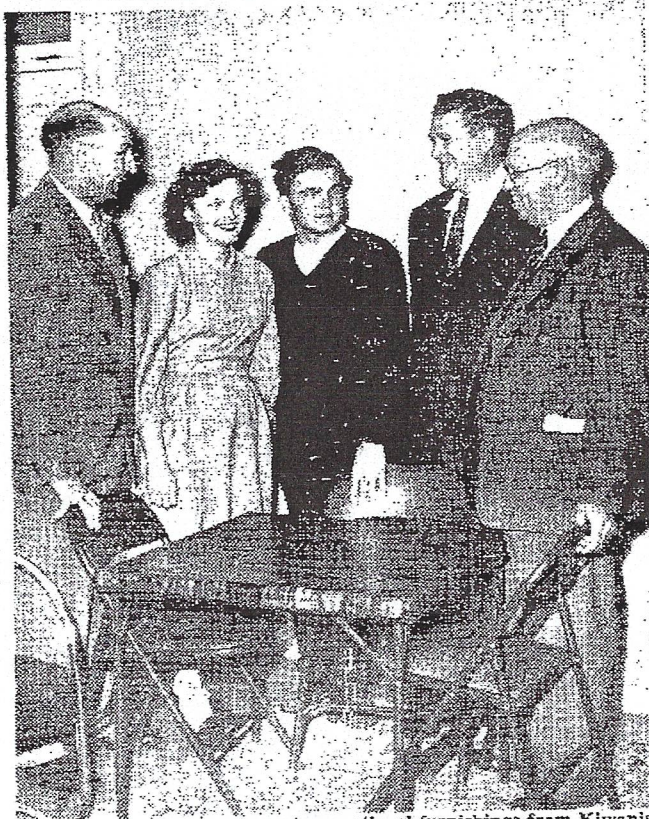

Probably the next youth-assistance activity of Kiwanis, according to Dr. Stewart, will be a book drive among members to supplement the students' library at the deaf and blind school.

Dr. Stewart recalled that a similar drive conducted last year for the Utah state industrial school netted over 250 volumes. Similarly this campaign was conducted after the Kiwanis club had furnished recreational quarters for boys at the industrial school.

Members of Kiwanis boys' and girls' committee in addition to Dr. Stewart, are: Karl Storey, Dr. Leslie A. Smith, R. E. Edens, R. J. Kingston, John Benson, the Rev. Harold Brauer and Miles L. Jones.
